IT HAS PRACTICALLY KILLED THE THE AN A POPULAR RESORT.

Motel Keepers, Business Men, the Various Springs, and the Hackmen Complain of a Great Loss of Patrounge Not a Sign of Life in the Old Places of Amusement, SARATOGA, Sept. 16.-If the stories of about half the people of Saratoga are to be believed, the reform wave that hit here at about the same time it struck New York has just about killed the town. All the people, from the boot-blacks to the merchants and the hotel keepers, are growling. Nobody ever heard of such ha.d times before, and everybody has lost money. This at least is the story they tell, and to back It up they exhibit the town itself, which don't resemble the Saratoga of last year any more than a black man resembles a white man. The general outline and shape of the town is the has replaced the bright red of a year ago, and it's all the work of the reformers. The hotel men, discussing the situation to-day, said:

Not a hotel in this town has done more than three-fifths of the business this year that it did last year, and a good many of the guests who did come went away raying they would never come again until the reformers were downed. Saratoga has always been known as a resort in the summer for live people people who had money and who were willing to spend it, but wanted to spend it their own way. Having this reputation, it depended almost entirely on this class of people for support. Once their liberties were restricted, as the reformers have restricted them, they had no further use for the town, and that is the reason the place looks something like a graveyard. Go around and see for yourself." hack was called. The driver was a man who had lived in Saratoga and driven a hack for ten years.

"Say," he said the moment the party was in his carriage, " this has been the toughest season I ever knew. You see that plug?" pointing to his horse. "Well, I'm feeding him on sawdust, It's the only sort of dust we can raise here now. Why, the people in my line are starving, and there's a third fewer of us than there was a year ago. It's all on account of this reform government. Who wants to come here when there's no fun. It'll end in driving the lot of us into bankruptcy. You want to go the club house and see? Oh, that's closed; that's dead; sorry I can't take you there. Where else? Col. Mitchell's? Yes, he's running, but you can't get anything here before this year. Why, there ain't even a poker game going. The only thing you can do poker game going. The only thing you can do in this town now is to get shaved on Sunday, and you wouldn't be able to do that if these reformers had their way."

The hackman drove his party all around the eity, and stopped at all the old places of amusement. There wasn't a sign of life in one of them, where a year ago they were all filled with people from out of town, who were enjoying themselves. The town was transformed from a summer resort to a small country city with no attractions. What this hackman and the hotel men quoted above said was echoed by every other hotel man in the city, without a single exception. The proprietors grinned when asked about the season. Not a man of them had made any money. It was echoed, too, by the storekeepers who keep open the year round, but they depend on their summer trade chiefly for their profit, and this year the summer trade chiefly for their profit, and this year the year round, but they depend on their summer trade chiefly for their profit, and this year they all agreed that it was because the city authorities had insisted on reform.

"We don't say that this city made its living by gambilag," said one man, "but we do say that a large-share of the summer patronage it had came here because here they could find the largest amount of personal liberty. Two-thirds of the human race like to watch a game of chance. If they don't want to take a chance in it themselves they want to look on. That was the way with the people who came here every that came here because here they could find the largest amount of personal liberty. Two-thirds of the human race like to watch a game of chance. If they don't want to take a chance in it themselves they want to look on. That was the wany with the people who came here every summer. too into any of the places where such games were going on and you would mat them crowded. There were a few players and a great crowd of watchers, who got almost as keen enlyment out of the game as the players. Now this year these places have been closed, and nothing at all was provided to take their place. The town is duil, and the wistors don't enjoy themselves. The places never were objectionable to the people of the town. They were patronized by the visitors who could afford to patronize them. The short-sighted reformers who happened to get into power didn't seem to realize this, and they slashed around with the idea of getting their names in the papers. They succeeded, and they have than any one man can tell. Saratoga's loss this year, due entirely to the reform wave, will count high up in the hundreds and thousands of dollars. If the same policy is followed next year, it just about means the end of Saratoga as a successful resort. Of course, Saratoga will always be a great resort on account of the springs, but they won't attract the patronage needed to keep the big hotels that are here open."

The life of Saratoga for many years was its race track and the club house, which for many seasons were under the control of the same syndicate. The people of Saratoga, however, never took kindly to Gottfried F. Waibaum, who came to the Springs with his filigotten gains from Guttenburg, where horses were raced through the snow and ice of the winter, and the racing game has been frost-bitten. Last year, before the restrictive operations of the constitutional amendments took away that profitable bookmaking privileges, the course about pander in the store half on the scenarious of the condition of the charm with the profitable would have been c

BIG PENSION FRAUDS.

Over 100 Fraudatent Penstons Secured tu One Oklahoma County.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 16. A special to the World from Perry, O. T., says there is great exoftement at Pawnee, thirty miles east of here, over indictments found against officials and lawyers of the county for defrauding the Government on pensions. The number of pensions have increased at Pawnee wonderfully in the past six months, and Special Agent Laferty has been investigating for several months. Or been investigating for several months. On Saturday night the Grand Jury returned forty indictments against prominent men and officials of Pawnee county, and three were arrested. Among those indicted are M. Hall, County Clerk, Raiph J. Weeks, a well-known lawyer, and Peter J. Muiror, Ponsion Agent.

There are over 100 fraudulent pensions in the county, all of which have been entered in the past few months. Other men who were indicted fied. The three men arrested gave heavy bonds. Agent Laferty will make investigations in other counties.

A meeting of the creditors of Bernheim Bauer & Co., wholesale clothing dealers, at 6 to 12 West Third street, was held yesterday at the Broadway Central Hotel, Nathaniet Myers, sa attorney for the firm, stated to the creditors that the firm are in a bad way and should have stopped business three years ago, but did not have the courage to do so then. They under-took to pay off their bank and merchandise creditors by borrowing money from relatives and friends, and would have done so if matters had gone one-third right, but in the past three years they have lost immense sums in business had gone one-third right, but in the past three years they have lost immence sums in business and also outside.

The banks, after putting an export on the books, agreed with one exception to accept a compromise of 40 cents on the dollar. Mr. Mvers made a statement of the lirm's condition showing liabilities $750,000 to members of their family, and $105,000 for merchandise. The assets are $210,000 to stock and outstanding accounts. The firm lave turned over outstanding accounts. The firm lave turned over outstanding accounts to protect money on deposit from orphans, an institution, and others amounting to $100,000. Mr. Myers, on behalf of the firm, made an offer to pay the merchandise creditors 40 centson the dollar in six, eight, ten, and twelve months.

Speeches were made by several creditors commending the method of the firm in settling direct with them instead of by an assignment, and stating that such a plan of adjustment should be encouraged, and expressing sympathy for the firm. It was agreed by those present to accept the settlement offered.

Attention of the Grand Jury in Rochester

Called to them by Justice Davy. ROCHESTER, Sept. 16.-Justice Davy this morning convened the fall term of the Circuit Court and Court of Oyer and Terminer. The court room was crowded with attorneys and talesmen. Judge Davy in delivering the charge to the Grand Jury said:

"There is one or two important matters to which I wish to call your attention. One is the crime of gambling, which has been openly car-ried on in this city. The last Grand Jury refused to return indictments, and one of the members communicated the fact to the Court members communicated the fact to the Court that there was sufficient evidence. This matter must be investigated, and if you find any one who owns or leases a building where gambling is carried on, it is your duty to return an indictment against him.

"I now wish to call your attention to that section of thee ode which relates to political cancuses. It appears that in the Twentieth ward this fall there was difficulty bordering on a riot, and the ballot box was thrown out of the window. If you find that any persons conspired to break up this organization, if it was a regular organization, be it Democratic or Republican, it is your duty to indict those persons."

ALBANY MURDERERS SENTENCED. Charles N. Davis and George Smith to Die in the Week Beginning Oct. 27,

ALBANY, Sept. 16.-The extraordinary term of the Over and Terminer, Judge Rumsey presiding, reconvened to-day to impose sentence upon the two murderers whose trials have attracted wide attention. The court room was crowded long before the murderers were brought over from the jail. Before the accused men were ar-raigned for sentence, however, Lawyer Dugan of counsel for Davis asked for a stay of sixty days on the ground that the verdict was not in as was also a motion by Galen R. Hit, one of Smith's counsel, for a stay pending an appeal on exceptions taken to the Judge's charge to the jury. Sentence was then imposed upon the prisoners. isoners. Charles N. Davis, 45 years of age, found guilty

Charles N. Davis, 45 years of age, found guilty of the murder of six-year-old Anna May Shannon of Cohoes, his crime being one of the most revolting in Albany's criminal annals, was sentenced to die at Dannemora prison during the week beginning Oct, 27.

George Smith, the other murderer, was convicted of shooting a defenceless old man of the hame of Richtmever in the suburbs of this city about four months ago. He was also sentenced to be taken to Dannemora and put to death as the law prescribes during the week commencing Oct, 27.

ALBANY, Sept. 16.-The Regents of the University of the State of New York have just issued what is probably the most complete outline of work for elementary and secondary schools ever published in this country. This revised Academic Syllabus was prepared by the Director of Examinations, with the assistance of the Question Board, and indicates definitely in its 264 pages the scope and character of the work required by the Regents' standards for graduation from secondary schools, including the requirements for admission to these schools. This 1895 syllabus is a revision and extension of the edition issued in 1891. The syllabus of 1891 passed through ten editions, there having been a surprising demand for copies from out of the State. It received favorable comment in educa-tional circles at nome and abroad, and some of the prescribed courses were translated for the benefit of foreign teachers.

Af-terward the business session of the Convention terward the business session of the Convention began in Union Hail with the annual address of President Adolph Weber of Racine. Wis. He reported that twenty-four new scrieties had been admitted during the year, making a total of 560 now represented in their organization. He recommended that State societies be formed, and that they hold at anual Conventions, and also that labor bureaus be formed in connection with all local societies. There are only two such bu-reaus now. Delegates are in attendance upon the Convention from seventeen States.

The Floor of a Church Given Way at a Funeral.

ALBANY, Sept. 16. At a funeral held at St. John's Church, Greenbush, to-day, the floor of the church gave way and a zerious fatality was narrowly averted. There was a slight panic, and many persons received painful bruises. Clothes were tora from some people in the scramble, but no one was seriously hurt.

Lured to a Lonely Spot and Murdered. CORNING, N. Y., Sept. 16. Further investiga-tion into the case of the man found dead on Saturday in the woods near Christic Black's farm shows that the man was lured to the lonely spot in the woods and there murdered by some unknown person. A memorandum book fourd in his pocket goes to show that his name was Milliam Crane of Cherry Valley, N. Y. It is thought the man was a produce dealer, as a memorandum book was found which contained several items concerning purchase of butter, eggs, and other produce. Cherry Valley is in

SEITLED WITH THEIR CREDITORS. WHITHER'S IDEAS ON RELIGIOS. Court Asked to Remove His Children from

His Charge Because of His Odd Doings, A motion was made yesterday by Gen. Horatio C. King before Jestice Cullen in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn for the removal of Wilmer F. Whittier as guardian of his children, Ada, Florence, and Edward, who inherited a legacy of $300 a year from their mother. It is alleged that Mr. Whittier has become a religious mone manize, and has reduced himself and his family manize, and has reduced himself and his family to poverty.

Mr. Whittier became a Seventh Day Adventista few years ago, and had to give up his $1,300 a year clerkship in the New York Post Office because of being unwilling to work on Saturday. When he adopted his new faith he compelled his wife to live with him in a stable and to subsist almost wholly on water, as Christ, he explained, had done. This treatment, Col. King sileged, broke his wife's heart and led to her death. His daughter refused to live with him and went to her aunt.

Justice tuilen reserved his decision and directed that the aunt should retain the custody of the girl.

close, when it was described as barely steady at the decline. There was a somewhat better supply of bills from all sources, and the demand was very light. At the close almost any quantity of short bills could have been obtained at $4.89% net. The foreign exchange market was also influenced by the higher rates for money. Practically all of the Wall street banks marked their call loans up to 214 P cent. this morning. That action at once made the rate 214 W cent. on the Stock Exchange. This is the first time in many months that lenders have been able to exert any influ ence upon the money market, and the fact that the market responded to their decision as to rates foreshadows greater activity. The calling in of about $3,000,000 of its loans by one of the banks, in connection with some transaction it is presumed to be clearing, also contributed to the stiffness of the money market. The Street is still very sensitive regarding the fluctuations in the Treasury's gold balance, and this is not to be wondered at in view of the illadvised and persistent efforts of both Administration and anti-Adminstration newspapers to keep before the public the fact that that balance is a a few millions below an arbitrarily fixed amount. Gold to the amount of $1,000,000 was withdrawn from the Sub-Treasury to-day for withdrawn from the Sub-Treasury to-day for shipment to-morrow. The shipper is the commercial house that has been foremost in the present outward movement of specie. It is currently reported in the foreign exchange market that the bills against this shipment were sold last week before the decline began. Present indications are that the exports of gold this week will be much smaller than they were last. That prospect, based upon the manifest tendency of the foreign exchange market, was partly responsible for the final movement of prices on the Stock Exchange.

at the opening this morning. St. Paul, Distilling, Maobattan Railway, and Tennesses Coats and Iron were particularly weak. For a few stocks, however, the first prices recorded were the lowest. The outpouring of long stocks by tirred, exhausted, and timid holders continued for about an hour, and then the pressure to sell began to relax, and by midday evidences of liquidation had practically disappeared. The sharpness of the early decine induced buying for both accounts by the professional element, and as soon as it became plain that urgent liquidation was over efforts to advance prices were made all along the line. The course of prices during the last half of the day justified the wisdom of those who made early purchases, for the entire list railied with a good deal of snap, and the great majority of stocks closed materially higher than on Saturday.

The leaders in the recovery were Sngar Refining and the Granger stocks. St. Paul received especial attention because of the appearance of foreign arbitragehouses as buyers. London was a fairly liberal buyer of other stocks. Its purchases were generally estimated at 23,000 shares. They were certainly large enough to have some effect upon the foreign exchange market.
